

Schedule Maker

Author: William King, Emma Sanchez, Ali Omer, Jacob Hayes

Problem Statement:

Making a schedule takes too much time and people don't want to waste their time on something that will only be useful for a limited amount of time. Our solution would be an app that scans your data and turns it into an easy to read schedule.

Who is experiencing the problem?

Everyone, from people who are students with lots of classes to people that just want to organize a schedule for a weekend.

What is the problem?

Making a schedule yourself is too time consuming.

Where does the problem present itself?

Mainly when people are sitting down trying to organize how their day will look.

Why does it matter?

People need a fast and easy way to create a schedule so they don't have to waste time making one themselves.